

Pippa Wilson

I have worked in the teaching profession for over 45 years, mainly as a classroom teacher in inner city primary schools, and been part of many developments in the education of young people.

It is a pleasure to be part of the Governing body at Old Fletton School where children, of all abilities and backgrounds, are provided with every opportunity to achieve well and become thinking individuals.