On Attendance

We are not following our values when looking at attendance - We aim high and embrace challenges, but we do not really celebrate success?

I Said...

1. What is great attendance?
2. How we can share the expectation
3. Celebrations for a class and for an individual
4. How often should we be celebrating
5. How can we make sure children do not feel bad for being poorly

We discussed

So...

How we will celebrate great attendance after half term

1. Great attendance is anything from 97-100%
2. We will use a parent and child friendly policy - to avoid the boring, long formal one!
3. Class Celebrations will be:
 - (a) Golden time when the class collects apples for their tree - 12 times of 97%+ for the week
 - (b) The class or classes with the best attendance each half term will have a decoration on their door
4. Individual celebrations will be:
 - (a) A Half termly Marvellous Me recognising great attendance and 100% attendance
 - (b) Children with "great" attendance will be in a termly draw, for a special prize
 - (c) There will be a passport for collecting 100% stickers - after each 5 weeks there will be small treat, a school thank you for the efforts - after 5 lots of 5 weeks, special treat (yet to be decided)
 - (d) Mrs Levy will look into an Attendance Badge and a class door decoration.
