Question 1: 'America burns with rage'

AMERICA BURNS WITH RAGE

After a peaceful demonstration, clashes between protesters and police led to scenes like this in Seattle

There have been increasing calls for the "defunding" of police departments across the US in recent days. This generally means taking some responsibilities away from the police and using the money for things like investing in better mental health care, so that people with mental health problems can get help instead of being arrested

PROTESTS against police brutality have continued across America, including in Minneapolis, following the death of a black American man, George Floyd, while being held down by a white police officer.

Derek Chauvin, the white police officer accused of killing Mr Floyd, appeared via video conference in court on Monday. He didn't enter a plea of guilty or not guilty.

Although the majority of protesters have been peaceful, some have been accused of taking things too far, with shops looted and even set on fire. Some have thrown objects at police, but the police have also been widely criticised for a string of attacks on peaceful protesters and journalists.

Two police officers in Buffalo have been charged with assault after they shoved a 75-year-old man to the ground, and there have been more than 200 incidents of journalists being attacked, including one film crew who were shot at with pepper bullets while they were on air.

President Donald Trump has been criticised for his response, including by former senior members of his own party. He called protesters "terrorists" and threatened to send the army in to deal with them.

"Given the track record of impunity [no punishment] for racial violence of this nature in the United States, black people have good reason to fear for their lives," read a statement from dozens of independent UN human rights experts.

"Many in the United States and abroad are finally acknowledging that the problem is not a few bad apples, but instead the problem is the very way that economic, political and social life are structured."

There have been protests following previous police attacks on unarmed black people in the US, such as the LA riots after Rodney King was savagely beaten in 1991. However, the way this protest has spread around the world suggests that the calls for change in America may be too loud to ignore this time.

Question 2: 'Feisty Flamingos'

FEISTY FLAMINGOS

A NEW study has revealed that the more pink a flamingo is, the more fierce it is.

The research from the University of Exeter discovered that the pinkest flamingos are the most aggressive when it comes to food. The team studied the lesser flamingo species at the WWT Slimbridge Wetland Centre in Gloucestershire and found that all birds pushed each other around trying to get to food, but the brighter-coloured birds were more aggressive than the others.

A flamingo's pink colour comes from carotenoids in their food, and their bright pink feathers are a sign of good health.
